The corporate governance of SHIP HEALTHCARE HOLDINGS, INC. (the “Company” or “we” or “us”) is described below.

I . Basic Views on Corporate Governance, Capital Structure, Corporate Profile and Other Basic Information

1. Basic Views

The Company will always pursue the best corporate governance, and will continuously work on its enhancement.

The Company is dedicated to the transparency and fairness of decision-making from the standpoint of achieving sustainable growth and medium- to long-term growth of corporate value. In addition, the Company believes that increasing the vitality of management by efficient use of management resources and quick and decisive decision-making is a key component of corporate governance. Numerous actions will be taken to enhance our corporate governance based on the following basic views.

1. To respect the shareholders' rights and secure the equality.
2. To consider the interest of stakeholders including shareholders, and cooperate with such stakeholders in proper manner.
3. To disclose the Company's information in appropriate manner, and secure transparency.
4. To establish the structure that the outside directors take material roles (composition of the Board of Directors, establishment of nomination advisory committee and remuneration advisory committee), and secure the efficient supervision function of business execution by the Board of Directors.
5. To conduct constructive dialogue with shareholders who have an investment policy consistent corresponding with the interests of medium- to long-term shareholders.

[Reasons for Non-compliance with the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code]

The following description is based on Japan's Corporate Governance Code with effect from June 2021 , including principles for the Prime Market.

[Principle 1.4] Cross-shareholdings of Listed Company

We may hold cross-shareholdings of listed company that are our clients etc. for the purpose of enhancing our medium- to long-term corporate value by maintaining and strengthening the business relationships with our clients and others. The criteria for making decisions about holding cross-shareholdings would be (1)risks associated with holding cross-shareholdings, including the risk of failing stock prices (2)expected returns from maintaining and strengthening business relationships (3)consistency with the Company's basic capital policy, and economic rationality and future visions. In the case that the company holding the Company's stock indicates the intention to sell the stock, we will respect the intention in principle.

With respect to exercise of voting rights, based on the idea that the agendas mutually contribute to the sustainable growth and medium- to long-term improvement of corporate value, we will comprehensively judge whether the agenda conforms to the Company's holding policy and helps the clients' efficient and solid management, and can expect improvement in corporate value. As of March 2021, the number of cross-shareholdings the Company's holds has decreased by eight companies since the end of March 2020.

[Supplementary Principle 2.4.1] Ensuring Diversity in the Promotion of Core Human Resources

In order to ensure diversity, although we are promoting managerial positions by comprehensively considering their abilities and aptitudes, we have not yet set measurable goals at this time. However, there are nine female officers (including executive officers) in the group, especially in the Lifecare and Dispensing Pharmacy business, where women are more promoted. We will continue to work on this as a medium- to long-term issue, recognizing the importance of taking measures to the declining working population and reflecting diverse values.

[Principle 2.6] Roles of Corporate Pension Fund as Asset Owners

On the basis of management of corporate pension reserve influence our financial situation in addition to employees' stable asset formation, we strive to properly manage conflicts of interest between corporate pension and company by regularly receiving the reports regarding investment status and Stewardship activities and others from investment agency. The current status of asset management is steady, however, we will consider "the measures in human resources or operation such as planned appointment and allocation of qualified personnel in charge of the investment", including the improvement of the structure, according to the scale of corporate pension.

[Supplementary Principle 3.1.3] Initiatives on Sustainability

We recognize that dealing with issues related to sustainability is an important element of our management strategy, and we disclose our business activities and SDGs on our website. As TCFD requires disclosure of information of climate change-related risks and impacts on the Company, we also aim to enhance disclosure by collecting and analyzing necessary data on risks and impacts related to climate change.

[Supplementary Principle 4.1.3] Succession Plan

We currently have not devised succession plan for CEO, however, to maximize the Group's strength, the Board of Directors is actively involved in succession planning based on the management strategy, such as reforming the existing organizational structure and appointing a new president. A person with upstanding personality, insight and experience is considered as an appropriate person for CEO. Succession plan shall be discussed in the board meeting if we decide the appointment of a successor is necessary.

[Supplementary Principle 4.2.1] The Resolution of Remuneration System Design and Remuneration Amount through Objective and Transparent Procedure

With respect to directors' remuneration, the contents of the agendas and the individual remuneration amount submitted to shareholders meeting from the Board of Directors shall be determined after fair examination and counsel by remuneration advisory committee. Since the compensation linked to the Company's medium- to long-term performance functions as a solid incentive towards sustainable growth, it will be considered as needed in the future.

[Supplementary Principle 4.3.2] Appointment of Representative in accordance with the Procedure, which is Objective, Opportune, and Transparent

At current point, we believe that it is appropriate to discuss and consider the appointment of representative based on the advice of outside directors. Appointment and dismissal of representative including succession planning is regarded as a future material issue for the Company's sustainable growth and medium- to long-term improvement of corporate value.

[Supplementary Principle 4.3.3] Establishment of Objective, Opportune and Transparent Procedure for Dismissal of Representative

We have not clearly established the evaluation criteria or procedures with respect to the removal of Representative. When it is objectively determined that there is a problem in the performance of duties, such as a serious scandal, a violation of the law or the Articles of Incorporation, the problem shall be discussed in the board meeting with attendance of independent directors and auditors.

[Principle 4.8] Effective Use of Independent Directors

Currently, four out of thirteen directors are independent directors, and approximately one-third of them are independent directors. Rather than simply being caught up in the quantitative framework of one-third, we comprehensively consider the balance between the board of directors and the board of auditors, the experience, expertise and responsibilities of each director, and whether there will be lively discussions both inside and outside the company. From the perspectives of improving the management power of the Company, strengthening governance, ensuring transparency, etc., we have evaluated and built a Board of Directors structure that seems to be more effective, so we have determined that there is no particular problem at present.

[Supplementary Principle 4.10.1] Establishment of Optional Independent Advisory Committee

Though the company has established nomination advisory committee and remuneration advisory committee, they are not the structure consisting of independent directors as main members (a system in which the majority of the members are independent directors). The committees advise the Board of Directors after asking for the opinion from independent directors. While fully recognizing the importance of evaluation that incorporates the opinions of independent directors in each committee, for the Group which has a high degree of expertise and complexity in its business, we believe that the qualitative and quantitative judgments considering business progress, results, and future growth strategies in each business area from a long-term and professional perspective are the most rational. Also, we will further deepen discussions on diversity of gender and skills, etc.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11] The Idea for the Balance of Knowledge, Experience, and Ability, Diversity, and Scale of the Board of Directors

The Company's directors shall have upstanding personality, knowledge, ability, and rich experiences together with high sense of ethics.

The members of the Board of Directors of the Company shall be balanced composition with diverse field of knowledge, skills and expertise considering gender, work experiences, age, internationality, skills, and other elements to secure effective performance of the Board of Directors. Although the structure of the Company's Board of Directors currently is not fully diverse in internationality, the Company has appointed a female director and the number of female directors are increasing in other affiliated companies as well, thus, we regard the Company reflects diversity in the management as a whole group.

[Supplementary principle 5.1.1] Policy on Constructive Dialogue with Shareholders

Based on the wishes of shareholders and the main concerns of the management meeting, in principle, the chairman, vice chairman, president, and executive director conduct the meetings, and the department in charge of IR assists. Considering the expertise and complexity of each business, there is no system for outside directors or auditors to attend IR management meetings.
