

FY 4/2022 (ended April 2022) Q4 Financial Results

June 10, 2022

FY 4/2022 Q4 Results

Executive Summary (1)

- FY 4/2022 started with a low growth rate compared to FY 4/2021, a year that saw a rapid growth in sales thanks to special demand due to COVID-19. The number of users, however, increased steadily owing to continued high demand for each service, assuring a digital shift is continuing to take place in BtoB transactions.
- From the second half of the year, with the recovery of the domestic economy, growth in sales showed a positive trend, resulting in a 9.7% increase in net sales year on year. Net sales excluding net sales derived from the GMV of masks and sterilization goods in the EC business increased 12.2% year on year, recording double-digit growth.
- The domestic gross merchandise value of SUPER DELIVERY is steadily increasing with the recovery of the domestic economy. The gross merchandise value of business operators other than retailers rose sharply, accounting for a larger portion. As the value of transactions per customer of these operators is low, the overall value of transactions per customer slightly decreased from Q3 to Q4, which is viewed positively as expansion of the user base.
- SUPER DELIVERY overseas has enjoyed continuous growth in GMV backed by demand for the service, which outweighed factors that could hinder growth in the short term such as delays in deliveries due to container shortages and higher shipping costs owing to surging crude oil prices, as well as the situation in Ukraine and lockdowns of major cities in China.

Executive Summary (2)

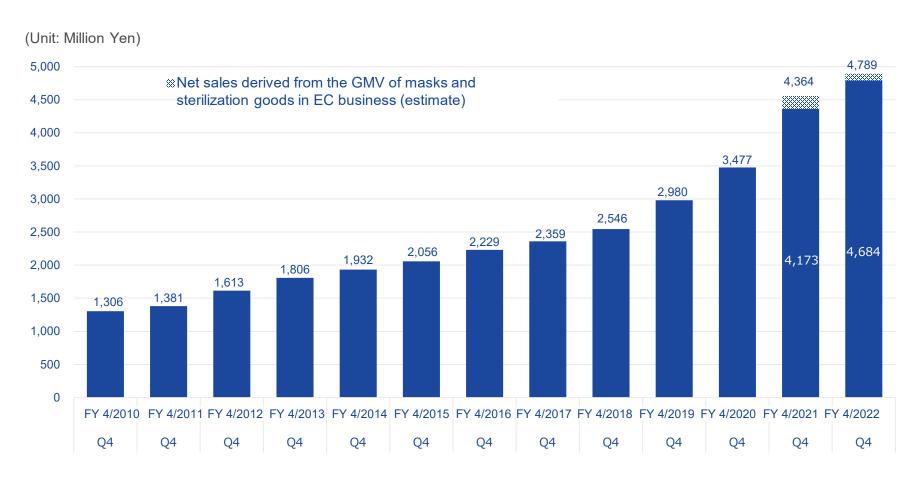

- For Paid in the Financial business, the value of transactions of member companies grew and the number of member companies increased from the second half of the year on the back of recovery in the domestic economy. As a result, the value of transactions and net sales increased 19.4% and 16.7% year on year, respectively, achieving a very positive result.
- The number of defaults in the Financial business continued to rise gradually due to the relaxation of credit screening criteria as the domestic economy returns toward normal but remained far lower than prepandemic levels.
- The number of URIHO projects continued to increase steadily. Sales increased 56.4% year on year.
- Operating income decreased 5.9% year on year as a result of higher selling, general and administrative expenses comprising an increase in advertising expenses (+19.9% YoY) due to the strengthening of promotion and higher personnel expenses (+11.0% YoY) due to an increase in the number of staff.
- We recorded an impairment loss of goodwill of 147 million yen as extraordinary losses, as a result of reviewing future plans of RACCOON RENT, Inc., a consolidated subsidiary providing a rent guarantee business, in light of the deterioration of the external environment caused by the prolonged COVID-19 pandemic and other factors.

Factors Behind Change in EBITDA (Year-on-Year Comparison)

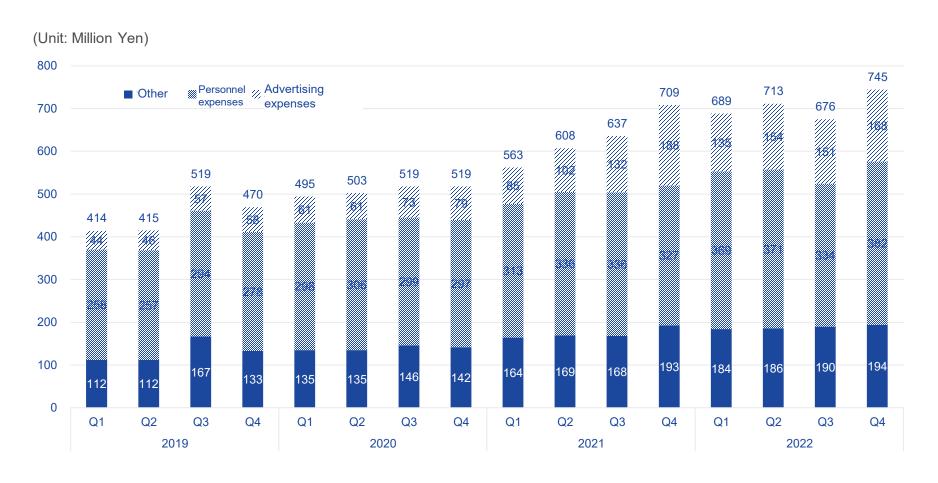

EBITDA was 1,268 million yen (a decrease of 5.3% year on year) due to a gradual increase in the rate of cost of sales in the previous fiscal year, which had remained at a level lower than past years, coupled with a 188 million yen increase in cost of sales, as well as increases in advertising expenses and personnel expenses

Due to increases in advertising expenses and personnel expenses, selling, general and administrative expenses stayed at a high level

Non-current assets (intangible assets) decreased due to the recording of a loss on valuation of investment securities caused by poor performance at some investment targets and an impairment loss of goodwill of a subsidiary

In terms of sales

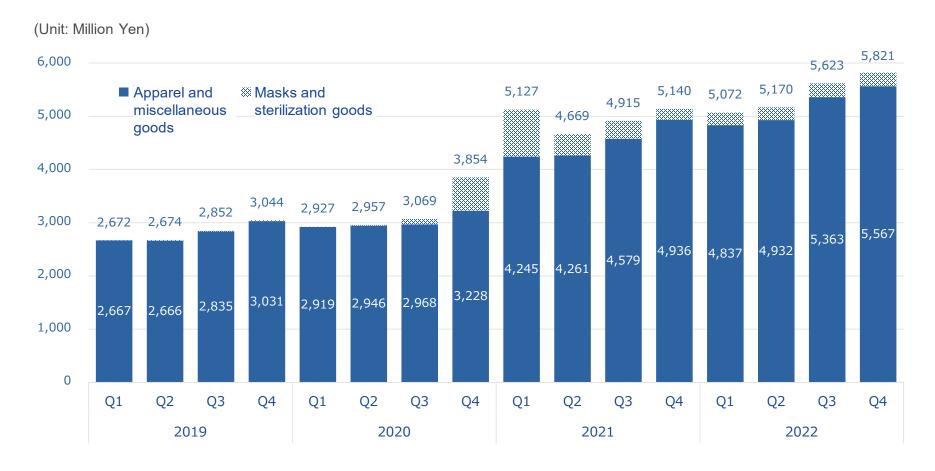

- In Japan, with a gradual decrease in cases of the Omicron variant, restrictions were relaxed in stages. An increase in the number of buying customers was led by business operators other than retailers. As the value of transactions per customer of these operators is low, the overall value of transactions per customer in Japan dropped quarter on quarter, while gross merchandise value increased steadily.
- Overseas, both the number of buying customers and the value of transactions per customer increased, achieving a quarter-onquarter increase in gross merchandise value, despite many negative factors such as shipping costs that remained high, delays in deliveries due to container shortages, and a deterioration in overseas conditions.

In terms of expenses

 Advertising expenses increased by 17.3% year on year due to ongoing proactive development of promotions. Personnel expenses increased by 12.7% year on year due to the ongoing increase in the number of staff associated with business expansion.

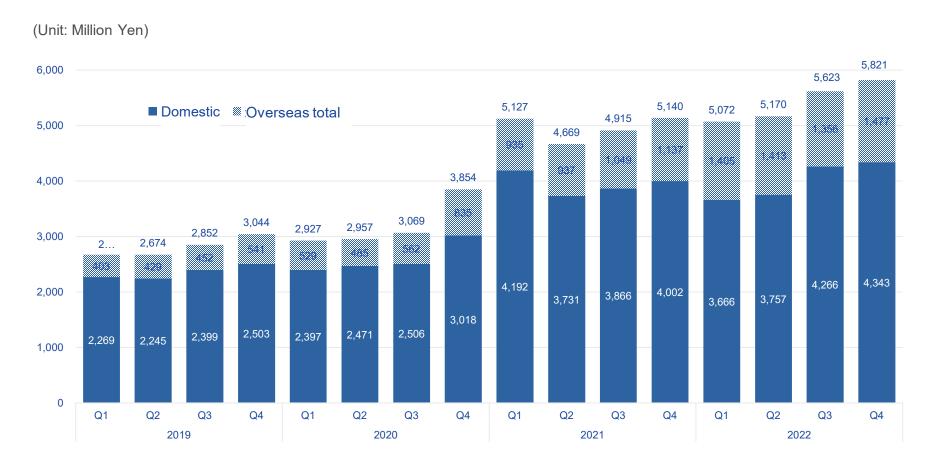

The gross merchandise value of masks and sterilization goods remained steady, causing almost no impact year on year for Q4. The quarterly gross merchandise value of apparel and miscellaneous goods steadily increased by 3.8% quarter on quarter and 12.8% year on year. The ratio of business operators other than retailers, which have low value of transactions per customer, increased, causing a slight decrease in value of transactions per customer

The number of first-time purchasers recovered. Growth in the number of repeat purchasers overseas was flat due to soaring shipping costs, while those in Japan increased smoothly, steadily accumulating higher purchaser numbers overall

^{*} First-time purchasers are business operators who made purchases for the first time during the quarter. Those who made additional purchases during the same quarter after their initial purchase are counted as first-time purchasers.

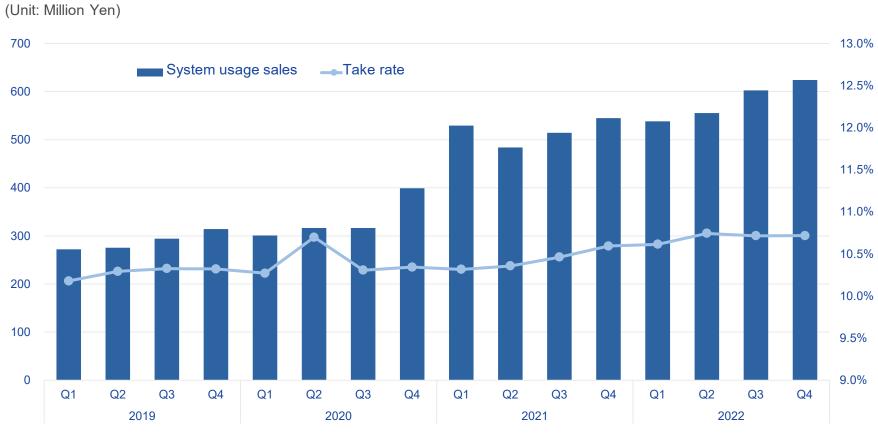

The number of participating companies continued to steadily increase

System usage sales increased due to the increase in gross merchandise value System usage sales accounted for over 80% of sales

^{*} System usage sales = fees calculated by charging a certain rate to GMV and collected from participating companies Participating company sales = basic participation fees Member retailer sales = monthly membership fees (collected from domestic retailers only)

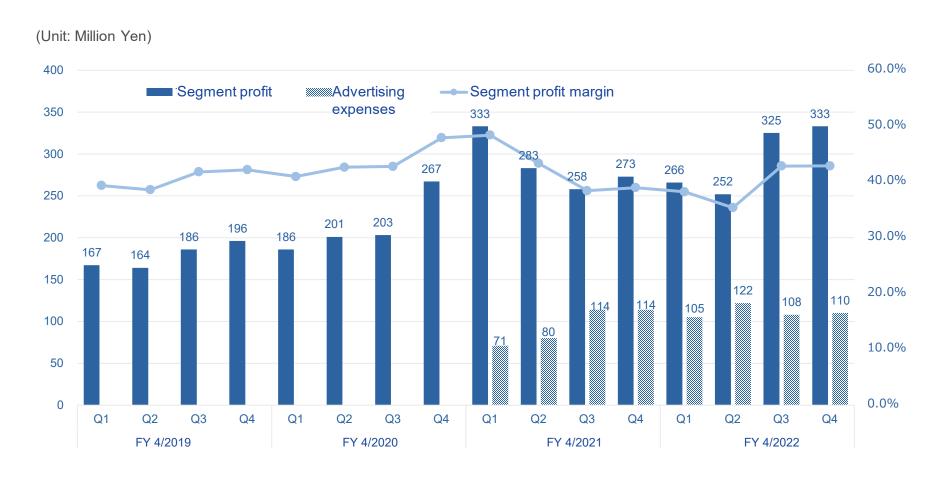

Overall quarterly net sales for EC increased by 10.8% year on year and 2.5% quarter on quarter

FY 4/2023 Earnings Forecasts

Net sales

As the digital shift in B2B transactions has been progressing, it is expected that the business environment for the Company's services will continue to be favorable.

Although the impact of COVID-19 is unpredictable, the impact on special demand products such as masks and sterilization goods will be roughly the same as in FY 4/2022 in the EC business.

Cost of sales

Defaults in the Financial business

To steadily capture opportunities for business expansion brought about by the ongoing favorable business environment and the normalization of economic activity, the Company will more actively offer credit lines compared to the previous fiscal year. Therefore, a slight increase in the default rate is anticipated.

Profit growth rate

Operating margin is projected to be flat due to higher costs to achieve growth in net sales, along with increases in advertising expenses and personnel expenses.

Increase in advertising expenses

Continue to strengthen promotion activities. The Company will also strengthen sales promotion aimed at improving customer LTV for SUPER DELIVERY in the EC business. As such, advertising expenses are assumed to increase by slightly over 25% year on year.

Increase in personnel expenses

Actively hire engineers and designers, while decreasing recruitment in other positions. As such, personnel expenses are assumed to increase by slightly less than 15% year on year. For system development, we will consider the use of system engineering services and other outsourcing contractors. An increase in associated costs is therefore projected.
