Notice Regarding Listing Schedule of A Portfolio Company

Tokyo -- July 4, 2022 -- Taipei-based Gorilla Technology Group Inc. (“Gorilla”), a portfolio company of Asteria Vision Fund I, L.P. (AVF-1), has filed an application to be listed on the Nasdaq stock exchange in the U.S. Although Gorilla earlier announced that it plans to list its shares between April and June 2022, it is still being examined by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as of today. According to information disclosed by Global SPAC Partners Co., the acquiring company, on July 1 (U.S. time) announced that if the company receives approval from the SEC before an extraordinary general meeting of its shareholders to be held on July 13, the company will seek approval of a merger with Gorilla at the meeting so that its shares will be listed on the Nasdaq on the next business day. If the SEC approval comes later than that, Global SPAC Partners will propose an extension of deadline at the meeting to complete SPAC deal and convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders on August 13 in view of the ongoing examination by the SEC.

Although the SEC is still reviewing Gorilla’s listing on the Nasdaq, there are no problems with the listing process. If there is a disclosure in the U.S. regarding future prospects, Asteria will disclose it as soon as possible.
