Ubicom and Israeli Next-Generation Technology Pioneer SIXAI Signing a Memorandum of Understanding towards Business Alliance in AI Solution Development and Human Resource Development

Ubicom Holdings Inc. (Head office: Bunkyo-ku, Tokyo; CEO: Masayuki Aoki; Securities code: 3937; hereinafter "Ubicom"), which promotes development partnerships with global companies in Japan and overseas by utilizing its development base mainly in the Philippines under the philosophy of "GO GLOBAL", SIXAI Ltd. (Head Office: Israel; CEO: Ran Poliakine; hereinafter "SIXAI"), an industry leader in AI and disruptive technology integration which has strengths in industrial applications of world-leading advanced defense technologies and next-generation AI, have signed a memorandum of understanding towards business alliance in AI solutions development and human resource development.

Summary of Memorandum of Understanding between SIXAI and Ubicom towards Business Alliance

1. Ubicom and SIXAI will jointly work on global development projects related to AI solutions through SIXAI.
2. Ubicom and SIXAI will consider efforts for Ubicom's AI talent development and "Go Global" development initiatives, based on a long-term perspective, with a view to future offshore lab development.

Ran Poliakine, CEO of SIXAI, is the co-founder of "illumigyn"; a femtech startup focused on women's healthcare in which Ubicom invested in 2021, and has founded numerous other social impact ventures backed by cutting-edge technology, including Nanox, Powermat, WellSense and others.

Since Mr. Poliakine and Ubicom share a common focus on the areas of AI and healthcare in particular from a Global perspective, we are pursuing a comprehensive and deepening partnership that goes beyond the scope of this MOU. Specifically, we are considering the possibility of further collaboration in the operation of AI-based ship safety management systems and the future deployment of illumigyn's femtech solutions in Japan and Asia.

Based on the "GO GLOBAL Strategy" promoting the "Second Growth Phase of the Ubicom Group", Ubicom will continue to develop AI personnel and medical engineers through collaboration with global partners (strengthened the investment in human resources from the second quarter of the fiscal year ending March 2023) and scale global expansion into the AI and healthcare domains together based on the development partnerships of Israel and Ubicom's base in the Philippines.

< SIXAI Ltd. >

SIXAI brings advanced technology and AI into traditional industries to improve productivity to better serve people around the world. Established by Israeli entrepreneur Ran Poliakine, the company identifies manufacturing and distribution shortcomings and provides solutions that improve performance and lower cost. SIXAI specializes in technology integration into legacy industries. Captain's Eye, a maritime AI company, is one such enterprise, performing real-time detection of security threats, leaks, safety violations, and cargo movement for shipping companies. SIXAI also acquires companies in the local and international market, mainly in the fields of AI, robotics, green energy, cyber and fintech. SIXAI recently signed an exclusive agreement with Israel Aerospace Industries (IAI), one of the world's leading military and aerospace manufacturers to identify military technologies that can be converted to civilian use.
