[Fight, Survive, Thrive: Blockchain Action in a Post-Apocalyptic World!]

“Crypt Busters” is a survival action game with roguelike elements where players take to the battlefield alongside NFT Mercs and Combat Vehicles in a post-apocalyptic world. Humanity has nearly been wiped out by a zombifying virus, making life itself a battle for survival against the Infected.

[Obtain the Utility Token “BQT” by Playing the Game]

Defeated enemies drop “Cores,” which can be exchanged for the utility token “Blood Quartz” (BQT). BQT can then be used to purchase or power up NFT Mercs.

[Mow Down Enemies and Collect Cores]

The satisfaction of taking down hordes of enemies is followed by the progression inherent to obtaining Cores, creating a comprehensive gameplay experience.

[Play in Auto Mode or Survival Mode]

“Crypt Busters,” which will be available to play on both PC and Android devices, features an Auto Mode in which up to 12 Mercs and a Combat Vehicle will automatically take down the Infected. Alternatively, in the Survival Mode players jump into the boots of a single Merc to manually take down enemies and gather Cores more efficiently...assuming you have the skills to survive.

The initial whitepaper and promotional video were made available on the game’s official website today.
