■ Comment

- FLY DIGGERZ Leader KATSUYA

Thank you for supporting the FLY DIGGERZ.

Our name comes from the word “FLY,” to be able to freely jump anywhere, and “DIGGER” which keeps us exploring and performing all over the world.

We are very happy to be part of “GO BEYOND.” and be able to take on new challenges with the support of Vision.

- Vision Inc. President, Representative Director, and COO: Kenji Ota

Since its establishment, Vision has been able to support over 400,000 corporate customers [2], and more than 17 million individual customers [3] by providing them with services they need at any given time.

We are very pleased to support “FLY DIGGERZ” as they continue their challenges in the Double Dutch world and beyond, as Double Dutch is gaining more and more attention as an urban sport.

■ What is Double Dutch?

Double Dutch is a sport that started out with rope jumping, and which has gained a wide range of supporter from young children to adults.

In Japan, at least 350,000 teenagers participate in Double Dutch at least once a year, the sport is practiced in more than 60 countries around the world (including the United States, the United Kingdom, Belgium, South Africa, and Hong Kong), with expectations to grow further.

Japan has a high population of elementary school students up until university students participating Double Dutch and even competing in their clubs with rivaling schools.

With organizations working worldwide to add Double Dutch as an official sport for the 2032 Brisbane Olympics.

In 1973, two NYPD officers, inspired by the sight of girls enjoying Double Dutch, established a set of rules and created the sport it is today. The main goal behind this was to curb the increasing delinquency of young kids in slum areas, and soon after promotional activities began to establish the sport.

The following year, in 1974, the “First Double Dutch Tournament” was held, and nowadays it has become one of the most popular sports in the U.S. and is slowly spreading around the globe, especially among young adults and children.

Although the time limit can differ the Competitions are in general divided into three major categories: “Speed,” in which competitors compete to see how fast they can jump, “Freestyle,” in which unique acts are performed based on their skills with a set score based on the techniques used, and “performance,” in which the freestyle acts are accompanied by music, dance, costumes to compete for entertainment.
