Disclosure Based on the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code

[Principle 1.4: Strategic Shareholdings]

(1) Policy related to strategic shareholdings

In addition to shareholdings for the purpose of pure investment, which is solely aimed at generating profit from fluctuations in the value of stocks and from dividends related to stocks, we may also hold shares of other companies as strategic shareholdings when doing so contributes to the creation of business opportunities for the Company and to the establishment, maintenance, and strengthening of business and collaborative relationships.

In regard to each strategic shareholding, every year, upon confirming its purpose, recent dividend status, stock price, etc., the Board of Directors verifies the economic rationality in light of the Company's capital cost and, in addition, verifies the risks of continuing to hold the shares. As a result of the verification, for those shares which have diminished significance behind their holding, we will proceed with selling them in stages, taking into consideration the situation of the company concerned.

(2) Verification of the appropriateness of shareholdings

At the Board of Directors meeting held on February 24, 2023, we examined whether individual holdings were appropriate in light of the above criteria, and a resolution was passed to continue holding the one stock currently held.

(3) Criteria for the exercise of voting rights

Upon consultation with each department in charge, the Representative Director & President makes decisions of approval or disapproval taking into consideration the perspective of whether or not the proposed content will contribute to the medium- to long-term improvement of corporate value and shareholder value pertaining to the issuing company, the impact on our Company's corporate value, and other factors.

[Principle 1.7: Transactions Between Related Parties]

The Company requires the prior approval of the Board of Directors in the event that any of the Company's Director conducts a conflict-of-interest transaction or a competitive transaction as stipulated in the Companies Act, and in addition, if any such transaction has been conducted, shall report such transaction to the Board of Directors without delay.

We distribute survey forms individually to the Board of Directors once a year to confirm whether or not there are any transactions with the Directors of the Company, affiliated companies, or subsidiaries, or with the close relatives of said Directors.

Transactions between major shareholders or other related parties are appropriately disclosed in accordance with the Companies Act, the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act, and other applicable laws, in addition to the provisions of the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

[Principle 4.11: Preconditions for Ensuring the Effectiveness of the Board of Directors]

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.1]

The Company’s Board of Directors is composed of seven Directors. In addition to the two Inside Directors responsible for executing and administering our business, we have appointed five Outside Directors to strengthen the independence, objectivity, and accountability of the functions of the Board of Directors, as well as to enhance its supervisory function. In order to ensure the soundness, transparency, and efficiency of management, we have strengthened the management supervising function and established an effective corporate governance system through the appointment of five independent Outside Directors and two independent Outside Corporate Auditors, based on the structure of a company with a Board of Corporate Auditors. We are also working to speed up and streamline decision-making and business execution through the introduction of a Managing Officer system.

Our Directors have abundant experience and specialized knowledge in various fields including corporate management, general retail, branding, product planning/production/technology, marketing/CRM, EC/OMO, international experience/overseas business, financial markets/M&A, legal/compliance, and finance/tax/accounting. In addition, all of our Outside Directors have experience in corporate management and possess a high level of knowledge of the retail industry, and similarly have abundant experience and expertise in various fields including branding, product planning/production/technology, marketing/CRM, EC/OMO, international experience/overseas business, financial markets/M&A, and finance/tax/accounting.

Therefore, the composition of the Company’s Board of Directors is not only well-balanced in terms of the knowledge, experience, and skills possessed by each Director, but also diverse.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.2]

In the event that a Director or a Corporate Auditor of the Company concurrently serves as an officer of a listed company, the approval of the Board of Directors on such positions will only be granted to a reasonable extent whereby the time and effort necessary to properly fulfill their roles and responsibilities as an officer of our Company can be secured. The status of important concurrent positions held by Outside Directors and Outside Corporate Auditors at other companies is disclosed annually through the general shareholders meeting notice, annual securities report, corporate governance report, etc.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.3]

The Company conducts self-evaluation and analysis of the effectiveness of the Board of Directors with the aim of improving the functions of the Board of Directors and thereby enhancing corporate value.

Self-evaluation and analysis were conducted by the following method with the advice of an external organization. In February 2023, we conducted a survey of all Directors and Corporate Auditors who are members of the Board of Directors. For the response method, we have ensured anonymity by having them send the responses directly to an external organization. Based on the external organization's report of the aggregated results, we analyzed, discussed, and evaluated the results at the ordinary Board of Directors' meeting in March 2023. An overview of the results is as follows.

From the survey responses, we received positive evaluations on several points such as: (1) Board of Directors' meetings have been held at an appropriate frequency and sufficient time has been allocated for deliberations, (2) discussions and exchanges of opinions taking place are not formal, but open and constructive, and (3) the situation in which dialogues with shareholders are conducted by the executive team in a timely and appropriate manner has been clearly shared. Accordingly, we confirmed that the effectiveness of the Board of Directors as a whole is assured.

In the previous effectiveness evaluation, issues such as the large number of members on the Board of Directors were pointed out. Since then, we made efforts toward improving on those issues and confirmed that improvements have certainly been made.

On the other hand, the Board of Directors shared the following two issues: (1) as pointed out in the previous evaluation, the training of CEO succession candidates should be appropriately supervised to ensure that it is carried out systematically with sufficient time and resources, and (2) value creation should be done from the customer's standpoint using data and digital technology, and thorough discussions and clear consensus should be established on the vision for such value creation.

In the future, based on this effectiveness evaluation, the Company's Board of Directors will thoroughly consider the above-mentioned issues and respond promptly to them, and will thereby continue efforts to enhance the functions of the Board of Directors.

[Principle 4.14: Trainings for Directors and Corporate Auditors]

[Supplementary Principle 4.14.2]

In order for Directors and Corporate Auditors to fully fulfill their management supervising and auditing functions, we provide appropriate and timely information necessary for the performance of their duties through the Board of Directors Secretariat. As for Outside Officers, in order to enhance their deliberation at the board meetings, we distribute and explain the meeting materials and provide related information to them beforehand, while continuously providing them opportunities to understand the Company's business operations through, among other things, orientation at the time of appointment and dialogues with our senior management.

We continuously provide Inside Directors and Managing Officers with trainings on compliance, corporate governance, and internal control conducted by external instructors. In addition, newly appointed Inside Directors and Managing Officers are required to attend external seminars.

[Principle 5.1: Policy for Constructive Dialogue with Shareholders]

We recognize the importance of gathering opinions through active dialogue with shareholders and reflecting them in our management in order to achieve sustainable growth and enhance corporate value over the medium to long term. To this end, through efforts led by the officer in charge of IR and the department in charge of IR, we are actively engaging in dialogue with shareholders and investors. For shareholders and investors, we convene financial results explanatory meetings once every six months, and hold one-on-one meetings as appropriate.

In addition, we advance our provision of information to overseas shareholders and investors by preparing English versions of Financial Results Explanatory Materials, Medium-Term Business Plan, and other documents, and disclosing them on the English “IR NEWS” section of our Company’s website (<https://www.sanyo-shokai.co.jp/en/company/ir/>).

Performance-based compensation system

Supplementary Explanation for Applicable Items

The total amount of a Director's compensation is composed of a fixed monthly compensation paid as basic compensation according to his/her responsibilities and position, a bonus paid as compensation based on performance, etc., and a Restricted Stock award. The composition is set as follows: a fixed monthly compensation of 70%, a bonus that varies between 0% and 22.5% (15% when 100% is achieved), and a Restricted Stock award of 15%. Furthermore, from the perspective of independence, compensation for Outside Directors consists only of fixed monthly compensation, without the payment of performance-based compensation or Restricted Stock awards. Performance-based compensation for Directors (excluding Outside Directors) will be paid as bonuses after being calculated according to the degree of achievement of consolidated operating income and net income attributable to shareholders of the parent company, which are indicators of corporate profitability, on the assumption that the Company's operating income is in surplus. In addition, Restricted Stock awards, which are non-monetary compensation, are paid in the form of restricted shares allocated by a method in which monetary compensation receivables paid to each Director are invested in kind based on their positions, etc.
