3. Reasons for Revisions

With regard to consolidated operating results forecasts for the first six months of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2024, the MGC Group anticipates that polyacetal and methanol market prices will fall short of its forecasts at the beginning of the fiscal year. In addition, overall sales volumes are likely to be lower than estimated, especially those of polycarbonates, electronic materials and aromatic chemicals. Accordingly, the Group expects net sales and each profit indicator to fall short of previous forecasts.

In terms of full-year consolidated operating results forecasts, the Group similarly expects net sales, along with each profit indicator, to fall short of its previous forecasts as first-half profit is expected to fall short of the previous forecast.

As for full-year non-consolidated operating results forecasts, the Group anticipates that net sales and operating profit and ordinary profit will fall short of previous forecasts based on similar reasons as those provided for consolidated operating results forecasts.

The above forecasts assume exchange rates of ¥135=$1 (a depreciation of ¥5 from the previous forecast) and ¥145=€1 (a depreciation of ¥5 from the previous forecast) for the remaining months of the fiscal year.
