Disclosure Based on the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code (Updated)

Principle 1.4 Cross-Shareholdings

The Company sometimes acquires shares and the like for the purpose of creating business opportunities and building and expanding business relationships and collaborations, but its policy is to sell said shares when it deems that holding them lacks rationality.

Rationality is verified by the Investment Committee, which convenes regularly. The committee determines the overall rationality by ascertaining the management details of the investee for each issue, and confirming the economic rationale of the investment in consideration of the Company’s capital costs (i.e., quantitative) and the significance of holding the shares in consideration of the outlook for achieving the purpose of the investment in the future (i.e., qualitative).

Whether or not to have cross-shareholdings is determined annually by the Board of Directors based on the economic rationale (quantitative) and significance of holding the shares (qualitative).

In addition, when exercising voting rights, from the perspective of improving the medium- to long-term corporate value of the Company and the shareholder value of investee companies, we confirm concerns about damage to shareholder value and the impact on transactions with the Company for each proposal. We will make a comprehensive judgment and exercise it.

Furthermore, the policy for determining the amount of officers' remuneration, etc. and calculation method thereof is decided by the Board of Directors. Composition of Remuneration and Calculation Method

Director Remuneration:

Remuneration for individual Directors (excluding Outside Directors) consists of basic remuneration paid as fixed remuneration, performance-linked remuneration, and restricted stock-based remuneration. The maximum total amount of remuneration for basic remuneration and performance-linked remuneration is 3 million yen (the number of Directors specified in the Articles of Incorporation is eleven or less, and was eight including four Outside Directors as of the day this report was submitted). The maximum total amount of remuneration for restricted stock-based remuneration is 1.5 million yen (the number of Directors specified in the Articles of Incorporation is eleven or less, and was eight including four Outside Directors as of the day this report was submitted).

Basic remuneration is set in accordance with job rank in the internal rules regarding remuneration for Directors. Performance-linked remuneration is calculated based on the ROE (Return On Equity) and EBITDA (Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, and Amortization) of the previous fiscal year, to which the level of improvement and achievement of consolidated operating income and the evaluation of the status of business execution by individual Directors is added. The calculation method is specified in the internal rules regarding remuneration for Directors. Evaluation of the Director that serves as CEO is approved by the Board of Directors after consulting the Compensation Advisory Council. The calculation method is specified in the internal rules regarding remuneration for Directors.

Implementation of restricted stock-based remuneration was approved at the 38th Annual General Meeting of Shareholders held on June 16, 2020 to further boost motivation to achieve Medium-Term Management Plan targets and share the benefits and risks of stock price fluctuations with stakeholders.

ROE and EBITDA of the previous fiscal year used to calculate performance-linked remuneration are indicators for setting the performance targets of the Medium-Term Management Plan (FY2020-2022), and therefore have been selected as indicators for calculating Directors' remuneration. The ROE target for FY2022 was 15.2% and the result was 8.0%. The EBITDA target for FY2022 was 11.85 billion yen and the result was 9.59 billion yen.

Remuneration for Outside Directors consists only of basic remuneration in view of their role.
