The corporate governance of FINDEX Inc. (the “Company”) is described below.

I. Basic Views on Corporate Governance, Capital Structure, Corporate Profile and Other Basic Information

1. Basic Views

The Company regards corporate governance as a management governance function to maximize corporate value for stakeholders and recognizes that strengthening corporate governance is an important management responsibility.

In order to respond appropriately and flexibly to changes in economic conditions and the market environment, the Company will strive to strengthen corporate governance by enhancing the functions of the Board of Directors, monitoring and supervising business execution, and further enhancing internal controls, while striving to disclose timely and appropriate information to stakeholders and respecting the rights of shareholders.

Reasons for Non-compliance with the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code

[Supplementary Principle 4.8.2]

Each of the Independent Outside Directors has a high professionalism, knowledge, and a wide range of experience, and is expected to provide advice from an independent standpoint. However, the Company does not believe that it is necessary to have a lead independent outside director, as this could lead to the development of a sense of hierarchy and dependency.

Disclosure Based on the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code

[Principle 1.4]

The Company does not hold any cross-shareholdings. When the Company holds any cross-shareholdings in the future, the Board of Directors will examine the rationale for holding them, such as business alliances and maintaining and strengthening business transactions and will confirm the rationale for cross-shareholdings at the end of the fiscal year.

[Principle 1.7]

When a director executes a transaction with the Company, the Company monitors the transaction by establishing a structure that requires a factual explanation and approval resolution by the Board of Directors in advance regarding the rationality of the transaction and its terms and conditions, in accordance with laws and regulations and the Related Party Transaction Management Regulations.

In the event that such transactions are executed, the facts of such transactions are required to be reported to the Board of Directors.

With respect to the existence of transactions between related parties and the Company, a quarterly documented interview survey is conducted with all directors, and the existence of such transactions is verified through cross-checking with the transaction data of the accounting department.

Furthermore, the Audit Committee monitors and verifies whether or not there are any facts that violate the directors' duty of prudence and duty of loyalty with regard to conflict-of-interest transactions and competing business transactions.

[Supplementary Principle 2.4.1]

In recent corporate management, there is an urgent need to build an organization that respects diversity.

The scope of such efforts is not limited to the conventional promotion of women's activities, but also covers a wide range of issues such as dealing with nationality, religion, and sexual minorities.

The Company will take seriously the challenges of the new era and fulfill its social responsibility as a company that protects people's mental and physical health through building and maintaining a diversity-friendly work environment and promoting inclusive recruitment.

In the area of human resources development, the Company actively recruits employees for key positions, regardless of gender, nationality, or age, in accordance with their past achievements and preferences.

In addition, the transfer of authority is actively carried out, providing many opportunities to take on new challenges, such as considering new business opportunities and exploring new business fields.

Approximately 98% of our directors and managers are mid-career professionals. The ratio of mid-career professionals to management positions may decrease in the future as more experienced employees are promoted to management positions, but it is expected to remain high, and therefore the Company has not set a goal for the voluntary and measurable promotion of mid-career professionals to management positions.

With regard to the recruitment of foreign management professionals, the Company recognizes that it will be an upcoming issue to recruit foreign nationals as needed, as well as to promote them to management positions and set voluntary and measurable goals, in consideration of the future business development of the Company.

With regard to the promotion of women to management positions, the Company has formulated an action plan based on the Law for the Act on the Promotion of Women's Active Engagement in Professional Life, as well as disclosed the plan below.

<https://findex.co.jp/company/actionplan.html>

Our action plan based on the Law for the Act on the Promotion of Women's Active Engagement in Professional Life sets a target of increasing the ratio of women in management positions to 9% by 2026 and 18% by 2030 (3.8% as of December 31, 2022).

Starting in March 2023, the Company will measure the effectiveness of these measures annually and achieve the targets while promoting specific measures, such as providing training and learning opportunities for female employees who wish to be promoted to managerial positions.

In addition to increasing the ratio of female managers, the Company are aiming for "Kurumin" and "Eruboshi" certification to ensure diversity and to publicize the Company as a worker-friendly company.

[Principle 2.6]

Currently, the Company has no corporate pension fund plan.

When adopting the plan, the Company will take appropriate measures in both personnel and management to fulfill its expected functions as an asset owner and will disclose this information.

The Company will also appropriately manage any conflicts of interest between the beneficiaries of the corporate pension fund plan and the Company that may arise during the management of the plan.

[Principle 3.1]

(i) Corporate philosophy, management policy, mid- and long-term initiatives, business strategies, etc. are described on the Company's website.

(ii) Basic policy on corporate governance is described on the Company's website and also included in the Corporate Governance Report.

(iii) The policy regarding the remuneration of directors is described in this report "II.1.[Director Remuneration] Disclosure of Policy on Determining Remuneration Amounts and the Calculation Methods Thereof".

(iv) For greater fairness and transparency, nominations of director candidates are deliberated by Human Resources and Remuneration Committee (chaired by the Representative Director and consisting of three independent outside directors), a majority of which are composed of outside directors, and the final selection is made by the Board of Directors, respecting the report of the Human Resources and Remuneration Committee.

(v) Reasons for the nomination of outside directors are described in the Notice of Annual General Meeting of shareholders as well as their brief CVs. For internal directors, brief CVs are provided to enable recognition of their career paths in the Company and their areas of expertise, thereby providing the reasons for their nomination.

Regarding the ESG and SDGs in the basic policy on sustainability initiatives, The Sustainability Committee, headed by a chairperson appointed by the Board of Directors, has been established, and the committee formulates and publishes on the Company's website. The Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) and the Company's approach to human capital are described in the Annual Securities Report.

In addition, as a software company, the Company recognizes that human capital and intellectual property are core assets and has been actively investing in these areas for a long time. Accordingly, the Company has been investing aggressively in these areas.

[Supplementary Principle 4.1.1]

The Board of Directors discusses matters stipulated by law and the Articles of Incorporation as well as important matters of the Company and decides the major direction of the Company's management. Specific execution of matters decided by the Board of Directors is delegated to Representative Director and Executive Directors, and the Board of Directors supervises the execution of such matters.

Also, the Board of Directors Regulations, Organization Regulations, Segregation of Duties Regulations, Administrative Authority Regulations, and Approval Rules clarify the matters to be resolved by the Board of Directors and the administrative authority of President, Executive Directors, and each department.

[Principle 4.9]

The Company shall make decisions regarding the nomination of independent outside directors by taking into consideration Article 2, Item 15 of the Companies Act and the criteria for determining independence as stipulated by the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

When nominating outside directors, the Company selects candidates who have a high level of expertise and knowledge as well as a wealth of experience, and who are able to actively engage in discussions at the Board of Directors meetings. Specific skills and experience will be described in the Notice of the Annual General Meeting of Shareholders, beginning with the Annual General Meeting in March 2022.

[Supplementary Principle 4.10.1]

The Company has established Human Resources and Remuneration Committee (chaired by the Representative Director and consisting of three independent outside directors), the majority of which are composed of outside directors, to consult and report on drafts regarding the nomination and remuneration of senior management, including directors. (Succession planning is also included.)

Nominations of directors and others are decided by respecting the Board of Directors' report. The remuneration of directors must be decided by the Representative Director in accordance with the contents of the report.

It is our policy that the majority of the members of the committee shall be independent outside directors and that the committee shall consist of all independent outside directors in order to incorporate diverse opinions rather than nominating a specific independent outside director.

In principle, the Committee meets in April (Remuneration) and December (Evaluation of Human Resources and the effectiveness of the Board of Directors as a whole), and as necessary on an ad hoc basis.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.1]

After identifying the skills that each director should possess relative to the management strategy, a skills matrix listing the knowledge, experience, and abilities of each director will be prepared and disclosed in the Notice of the Annual General Meeting of Shareholders, beginning with the Annual General Meeting in March 2022. The Board of Directors is well balanced in order to fulfill its supervisory function and to ensure healthy and sustainable growth. The policies and procedures for the nomination of directors are as described in Principle 3-1 (iv). Independent outside directors include persons with management experience at other companies.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.2]

The Company discloses the status of directors' concurrent positions every year through the Notice of the Annual General Meeting of Shareholders, the Securities Report, and the Corporate Governance Report. Directors who concurrently serve at other listed companies are limited to the extent that it does not interfere with their attendance at Board of Directors meetings.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.3]

The Company evaluates the effectiveness of the Board of Directors through analysis of the attendance ratio at Board of Directors meetings and the comments of each director. In addition, Human Resources and Remuneration Committee (chaired by the Representative Director and consisting of three independent outside directors), the majority of which are composed of outside directors, discusses the effectiveness of the Board of Directors and points for improvement, and provides advice to enhance the effectiveness of the Board of Directors.

Currently, the Board of Directors meetings are highly attended and have appropriate agendas, allowing sufficient time (One to two hours per meeting) for discussion and active proposals from directors, including outside directors. Therefore, the Company evaluates that the effectiveness of the Board of Directors meetings is sufficiently ensured.

[Supplementary Principle 4.14.2]

New directors elected from outside the Company are briefed by Representative Director or other directors regarding the Company's overview and issues. Newly elected directors appointed from within the Company are encouraged to actively utilize outside seminars to acquire the knowledge required to perform the role of a director.

The Company has consistently prioritized dialogue to establish trust with shareholders. The representative director actively participates in dialogues and meetings. Semi-annual earnings briefings are conducted for analysts, complemented by smaller group meetings and individual sessions for institutional investors. Furthermore, on the quarterly earnings announcement dates, the company prepares and releases supplementary materials in tandem with the consolidated financial results.

Opinions and concerns of shareholders identified through communication are reported to the Board of Directors and the Management Committee, and appropriate actions are taken by the Committee in a timely manner.

In addition, the Company has established insider trading management rules and conducts periodic training sessions to ensure the management of insider information.

[Measures towards Achieving Management Conscious of Cost of Capital and Stock Price]

The Company has set "Engaging in business/social contribution activities towards the healthy and sustainable society" as its management policy. In 2021, the company announced in its "Vision for 2025" that it would apply its technology and knowledge accumulated through research and development efforts to the medical software, medical devices, and solutions for the local governments. Despite the need to revise sales and operating profit plans due to the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, the company's approach to maximizing corporate value for stakeholders remains consistent.

The company conservatively assumes its cost of capital to be around 10%. This assumption takes into account factors such as the high stock beta, attributed to the elevated stock price volatility observed in the past. However, the company's return on equity (ROE) for 2022 was 19.2%, surpassing the cost of capital, and its equity spread has remained positive.

Moving forward, the company will continue aiming for the maintenance and improvement of ROE by enhancing profitability and asset efficiency. This includes increasing profitability through the creation of new businesses that leverage research and development achievements, improving value-added through investment in talent development, and effectively utilizing capital through investments and M&A, as well as capital policies. On the other hand, if effective investments cannot be executed, the company plans to consider the stock price situation and implement measures such as enhancing shareholder returns.
