Notice of Head Office Relocation

RAKSUL INC. (the “Company”) is pleased to announce that the Company will relocate its head office to Azabudai Hills Mori JP Tower in January 2025 (planned).

1. Reasons for relocation

Since our foundation in 2009, with our vision of “BETTER SYSTEMS, BETTER WORLD,” we have been striving to realize a better world by bringing the internet into traditional industries that have yet to be digitalized and by transforming the industry structures of multiple industries such as printing and advertising. Today, we have grown into a portfolio company that operates in various phases of business, and we will continue to expand our business through continuous M&A in addition to starting up internal businesses.

The office relocation will provide office floor space that can accommodate the future increase in personnel associated with the above-mentioned business expansion, while also fostering a sense of unity among the entire Raksul Group and generating further synergies for our future evolution.

We have also been promoting “Hybrid Work,” a work style combining in-office and remote work. With the relocation, we will strive to create an office environment that supports diverse working styles while pursuing the ideal form of “Hybrid Work” in the post-COVID era, listening to the opinions of our employees. We will enhance our organizational strength through close communication, mutual support among members, and sharing of creative ideas, and achieve continuous growth as a united group.

■ Comment from Yasukane Matsumoto, the Company’s founder, director and chairman

Mr. Minoru Mori, former chairman of Mori Building, is a charismatic business executive whom I respect.

In the confusion and frenzy that followed the end of World War II, Mr. Minoru Mori envisioned a city of orderly greenery where business, culture, and nature co-existed, in the face of the obscenely overcrowded streets of Tokyo. Mori Building has spent 30 years on a single development and more than 50 years building the city to realize its vision.

I have heard that they also spent over 30 years leading the development of Azabudai Hills. We are thrilled to be moving into this place where they have overcome difficulties and realized the vision they had drawn, and I am once again excited about striving to realize our vision “BETTER SYSTEMS, BETTER WORLD.”
