

Notification regarding Distribution of Financial Education Contents through Inquiry Based Learning for High School Students

ACOM CO., LTD. announces that company has launched a distribution of Financial Education Contents for High School Students through “Time Tact”, an Inquiry Based Learning platform, in collaborating with NTT ExC Partners (hereinafter “NTT ExC”).

1. Background

ACOM has provided financial education for college and high school students for the purpose of sound development of the consumer finance market. Lectures on basic knowledge of loans and credits, and prevention of financial problems are given to them.

We have now launched a distribution of financial education contents for high school students through the Inquiry Based Learning platform in order to prevent financial problems and improve their financial literacy.

2. Initiatives

Based on our expertise in the loans and credits card business, we provide Inquiry Based Learning materials for high school students in collaboration with NTT ExC.

Under our founding spirit of “Circle of Trust,” ACOM aims to both solve society’s challenges and raise corporate value, and realize a sustainable society, through our corporate philosophy of “the Spirit of Human Dignity,” “Putting Customers First,” and “Creative and Innovative Management.”
